Operational interaction (from producer perspective)

Considerations that need to be made when planning for operational use of S-125:
Determine who should create the service that issues S-125 datasets.

Generic AtoN information flow

Note that the IALA/IHO S-100/S-200 workshop concluded that it would not be possible to give a general recommendation of which organization should do the work, but rather developed an information flow diagram to show the relationship between the tasks and services as a guide.
